The Capriccio String Quartet

McLean Baptist Church is hosting a one-hour Chamber Music Concert to support the Power Pack Program, a Food for Others initiative that provides weekend packs of food to alleviate hunger for students who receive free-or-reduced-meals during the week and are at risk of food insecurity and hunger on weekends. Church volunteers pack and deliver kits throughout the school year to a local elementary school. More information on this program can be found at <https://www.foodforothers.org/p3-power-pack-program/>.

The Capriccio String Quartet, pictured above, will be performing works by Beethoven and Dvorak. Quartet members, from left to right, are Becky Fulton, violin; Paul Marshal, cello; Mark Fulton, viola; and Chuck Gambrill, violin. Admission is free, but there will be an opportunity to make a donation to the Power Pack Program.

Join us for an enjoyable summer afternoon of music!
